

FEMININE FANCIES

MILITARY STYLES BRING POCKETS.

BY ANNE RITTENHOUSE.

Special Correspondence of The Star.
NEW YORK, February 13.—Did the worship of the military heroes of the day bring about the desire for a pocket, or many of them, on every garment, even nightgowns?

The designers have adopted this accessory with enthusiasm and the women are aiding and abetting. Pockets have not been considered as of any especial value in the realm of apparel for several years; they were not used for practical purposes and were discarded as a means of ornamentation.

The attitude toward them has materially changed in the last month, and there is an inkling that they may be put to work in a few weeks. Already the smartly dressed actresses are taking up the idea of walking with their hands in skirt pockets, which are placed in front of each hip.

unpleasant reminder of those absurd little saucers fitted on the back at a ridiculous angle which we often associate with early pictures of the beautiful Alexandra of England.

There was a strong feeling when the full skirts came in with long coats that the two garments were never intended to be worn together. The former made the latter clumsy. Now, the designers are changing into the shortest jackets we have worn for years, and, as we propose to keep to the full skirt, evidently, we shall welcome the short coat as an adjunct.

(Copyright, 1915.)

SPRING SUIT OF TAN, WITH LIN-GERIE BLOUSE. THE HAT IS ONE OF THE NEW SPRING MODELS.
WORN AT JUST THE RIGHT ANGLE.

Down fifth avenue one sees young girls sauntering along in the same attitude, others have one hand in the skirt pocket, while the other holds a police dog on the leash, as the French feeling for this breed of canine as a street companion on the pavement and on the front seat of the motor has been taken up in New York.

Pockets Conspicuous.
The picture presented is certainly more attractive than one of a girl pulling along a toy dog that is in everyone's way and under every one's feet.
Somewhat, the old athletic manner of dressing and a healthier outlook on life seem to be in the process of reconstruction in these warlike days.

There is evidently no wish on the part of the dressmakers to conceal pockets. They are flaunted in the face of the beholder. They are made for show. If a woman wants to put them to use also, that is her choice.

Putting them on the skirt rather than on the coat is a temptation to use them. And it is a woman's certain swagger to do it. Let her beware, however, of following out the idea unless she is thoroughly aware of possessing the physical characteristics that go with the hands-in-pocket attitude.

The sketch, which is direct from Paris, gives one an idea as to the promised use of these pieces of ornament in the spring clothes. The suit is of tan cloth; the short jacket is worn over an old-fashioned lingerie blouse which has two fitted frills. The coat side of a small box pleat. The side is cut away from the waist line in front and dips to two points, a new feature of cutting jackets which is seen in various ways on most of the new garments.

Boasts No Trimming.
The wide skirt which has no hip vocal to relieve the fullness of the gathers at the waist line boasts no trimming but two pockets, which are outlined with wide braid and silver buttons.

Do look well at the hat. It is an example of the new spring models.

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy and thick with a simple mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and mussy tresses are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the tedious task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifying darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

AMERICAN FASHIONS.

BY LILLIAN E. YOUNG.

When once you've had a crepe de chine frock you "get the habit" involuntarily, for there does not seem to be anything that will quite take its place.
This color scheme will be found especially artistic, but should the shades of blue prove too trying, any other blue will work into the design equally well.

Smart Spring Coats.

The change in style from the straight line coats to the full ripple forms is due to the full skirts that are in vogue, as it is necessary that the coats worn with these garments have a wide swing at the edge. Extreme models have the ripples falling in deep folds from the shoulders. In other designs the ripples start from the waist line. These practical coats have the short-waisted effect, with semi-fitted upper sections and a moderately full skirt hung from the raised waist line.

Smart coats for sport and motor wear are in checks, tweeds, mannish mixtures and chinchillas. Motor coats usually have wide belts, and the trimmings match the bright-colored threads in the cloth. Some of the newest coats are between a cape and a coat. These are trimmed in military style in army blue or gray. The real military cape is also seen. They are touched up with gilt braid and buttons, or finished with black braid and buttons.

Sometimes the sleeves are set in the regular arm-size, but they are made large, being more practical than the fitted kind. Modified kimono sleeves set on the long shoulder line, are seen in limited numbers, as are also sleeves with a cap finish over the shoulders.

Very high collars are worn, but are more practical when they are adjustable. In this way they can be fastened snugly about the throat or turned down if desired.

To Keep Silver Bright.

An easy way to keep silver bright is to put a handful of borax in a dishpan of hot water with a very little soap.

Put the silver in this and let it stand the entire morning.

Then rinse in clear water and wipe thoroughly dry with a soft cloth.

You can treat plated ware in the same manner without the slightest injury to the plate.

New Treatment for Croup and Colds

Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption.
No Stomach Dosing.

Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a good application of Vick's "Vapo-Rub" Salve over the throat and chest is the best defense against all cold troubles.

The medicated vapors, released by the body heat, loosen the phlegm, clear the air passages and soothe the inflamed membrane. In addition, Vick's is absorbed through the skin. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.
